

Bridport Prize Rules of Entry 2019

Please ensure you read the rules carefully before entering the competition. Entry implies acceptance of all the rules and failure to comply may result in disqualification

General

All entries are judged anonymously. Please do not include your name, address, phone number, email, website, twitter handle etc on the document.

Please note:

Our entry instructions are for ease of administration and we prefer you to follow them. HOWEVER if you forget anything or add details (titles, word or line counts) in the wrong place, your entry will NOT be disqualified. We only disqualify entries if they are named or over the word or line limit.

This document covers the following areas:

- Length
- Eligibility
- Fees
- Receipt of entry
- Judging

Eligibility

- The Prize is open to writers of any nationality writing in English, 16 years old and over at the time of the closing date.
- Entries must be entirely the work of the entrant and by submitting you are confirming that the work is your own. Any evidence to the contrary will result in immediate disqualification.
- Entries must never have been published, self-published, published on any website, blog or online forum, broadcast nor winning or placed (as in 2nd, 3rd. runner up etc) in any other competition. **
- If your entry has been long-listed or shortlisted in other competitions, and provided it has not won a prize or been published, then it is eligible for the Bridport Prize.
- Simultaneous submissions are allowed but will become ineligible should they win a prize elsewhere or be published prior to the prize-giving date; entry fees will not be refunded.
- You must inform the Bridport Prize immediately should your entry be published or win a prize elsewhere.
- Entries submitted posthumously will not be eligible.

\* The Novel Award has a slight variant on this rule. Entrants to this category must not have previously published a novel, (although self-published and ebooks are accepted). Novel entrants who have had other types of books traditionally published e.g. poetry, memoir, nonfiction, are eligible to submit.*

Receipt of entry

- Postal entries - enclose a stamped, self addressed postcard marked 'ACKNOWLEDGEMENT' if you require acknowledgement of the receipt of your entry.
- Online entries are confirmed by the email receipt of your payment to

WorldPay or PayPal plus an email from the Bridport Prize. (Please check your spam folder as emails sometimes go there by mistake)

- It is not possible to confirm receipt of entries by phone or email.
- Overseas entrants: please send an international reply coupon from your Post Office rather than stamps.

Judging

- The judges' decision is final and no individual correspondence can be entered into.
- Judges are unable to comment on individual entries.
- Judging is fair and unbiased. Experienced readers assist the named judges in selecting the shortlists.
- The Bridport Prize reserves the right to change the panel of judges without notice

Copyright

Worldwide copyright of each entry remains with the author, but the Bridport Prize will have the unrestricted right to publish the winning and highly commended poems, short stories, flash fiction stories and extracts from the opening chapters of the long-listed novels in the annual winners' anthologies and any relevant promotional material including press releases.

Prizes

The Bridport Prize will award the following prizes:

Additional information for Novel Award entrants

Please note: the Peggy Chapman-Andrews Award for a First Novel is open to writers in Britain, aged 16 years and over, (Including Northern Ireland, the Channel Islands and the IOM) and the Republic of Ireland with a part-written or completed novel in any adult fiction genre including fiction for young adults (YA) providing there is a genuine crossover for adult readership. Non-fiction and fiction for children is not eligible.

Entrants must not have previously published a novel, (although self-published and ebooks are accepted). Entrants who have had other types of books published e.g. poetry, memoir, nonfiction, are eligible. "Published" means where a publisher (big or small) has selected a work on editorial grounds for their list (and that list publishes different writers as opposed to the list simply being comprised of one author's works) and where the author in question has not paid that publisher to do so.

The submitted work must not have won or been placed (i.e. 1st, 2nd or 3rd) in another competition. Work that has been commended is eligible provided a cash prize was not awarded

Entrants must not currently be represented by a literary agent.

The first page/s of your entry must be the 300 word synopsis comprising:

- 1st paragraph - brief summary of 30 to 75 words.
- Followed by the detailed synopsis.
- Please note the word limit for both the brief summary and synopsis is 300 words.
- Long-listed entrants will be required to submit a minimum of 15,000 words for the next stage of the judging process. Entrants unable to comply will be disqualified.
- Shortlisted entrants will be required to submit 30,000 words for the final stage of the judging process. Entrants unable to comply will be disqualified.

Our partner The Literary Consultancy (TLC) has information on 'How to Write a Synopsis'. Please see the Novel category page for details
